CLOSE OF SEASON

Perrysburg Foot Ball Team Made Splendid Record for 1916.

Perrysburg closed their 1916 foot ball season at Fremont on Thanksgiving with their first defeat. With the aid of H. Munger as coach, Perrysburg had the best team in the town's history, equal to any amateur team in the state.

During the season the Perrysburg team has scored 140 points while their opponents have secured only 19.

The Perrysburg-Genoa game scheduled for last Sunday was cancelled by Genoa Saturday morning. This was too short a notice for the locals to secure a game.

MAPPING SCENERY OF OHIO.

A map showing the location of points of scenic and historic interest in Ohio is being prepared at the Ohio State University. In order to make it as complete as possible, every resident of the state is invited to send information. Replies should be addressed at once to P. H. Elwood, Horticultural Building, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. The map is expected not only to make available much valuable information to students and tourists but to develop interest in spots that have been hitherto comparatively unknown to the country at large.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING

The stockholders of the Perrysburg Grain and Seed company held their annual meeting at the town hall on Tuesday afternoon. There was a large percentage of the stock-represented and the members expressed themselves as well pleased with the enterprise.

The board of Directors will remain the same as during the past year by the re-election of the members whose terms had expired.

The question of increasing the capital stock to $40,000 met with the unanimous approval of the stockholders.

A general discussion of the company's business and prospects was had and a feeling of universal satisfaction was manifested.

After the business session was closed President Emmerich and Director A. J. Witzler treated the stockholders to a fine luncheon a special feature being a 75 pound venison roast which was a part of one of the deer Mr. Witzler brought home from his recent hunting.

That the company is a live one with bright future prospects was very apparent.

DEATH OF MRS. BULLMAN

Mrs. Clarinda C. Bullman formerly of Perrysburg, Ohio, died at the home of her youngest son Allen Bullman of Northville, Mich., aged 85 years, 9 mo. and 24 days.

Mrs. Bullman was the daughter of Robert and Martha Shaw who were among the early settlers of Perrysburg.

NEGLECTED COLDS GROW WORSE

A cough that racks and irritates the throat may lead to a serious chronic cough, if neglected. The healing pine balsams in Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey—Nature's own remedy—will soothe and relieve the irritation, breathing will be easier, and the anti-septic properties will kill the germ which retarded healing. Have it handy for croup, sore throat and chronic bronchial affections. Get a bottle to-day. Pleasant to take. At all Druggists, 25c.

RANDOM RECOLLECTIONS

Boating on the Beautiful Maumee About Forty Years Ago.

It is probable that boating on the beautiful Maumee reached its maximum in the few years between 1874 and 1890, for to the best of my recollection there was a larger number of pleasure boats owned and used in Perrysburg in those few years than at any time before or since. There were all kinds of boats, from the crude article of a few boards nailed together to the fine clinker-built boats, nicely painted and varnished and with upholstered seats. Rowing in those days was considered fine exercise, and in the summer evenings the surface of the river would be dotted with numerous boats, the occupants of which were out for fresh air and exercise.

Most of the boats on the river were built in the 'burg, but a few of them were made by J. W. Hepburn & Bro., the crack boat builders located for a number of years in Toledo. The one man who perhaps built more boats in our town than any other individual was George Lafarree, while his brother, Gus Lafarree, was a close second. Nearly all of the boats built by these two gentlemen were made of white pine, were built on graceful lines, and were good and substantial craft. There were mooring places all along the river front from the old bayou just above Hirth's tannery down to Thornton's brickyard, and it was no uncommon sight to see a dozen boats moored in the little bayou between the old mill dock and the big dock at the foot of Louisiana avenue.

These boats were used for numerous purposes, but mostly for pleasure riding and for fishing. Also they were occasionally borrowed by crowds of small boys (without the knowledge or consent of the owners), when they were possessed with an overwhelming desire for a swimming fest over on Big Island, where there was a nice sandy bottom, War Club Island, or across the river at the locks of the old "side cut," now abandoned, where the water from the Miami and Erie Canal emptied into the river. And the average boy of that period knew just how to separate a padlock and chain from any staple to which it was attached in record-breaking time, and without either injury or damage to either the lock or staple. However, the boats were generally returned to their proper mooring places within a reasonable time.

There were other times when the boys could indulge in their desire for being on the water in boats of which they could not claim the ownership, and that was when there would be a lake vessel at the foot of Louisiana avenue for the purpose of taking on a cargo of oak staves, of which there was such an enormous quantity shipped from Perrysburg in years gone by. Sometimes there would be from six to a dozen vessels loaded at this dock in a single season. Usually the captains were generous and good natured, and were not averse to loaning the yawl boat of their good ship to the crowds of small boys who were usually clamoring for this privilege as soon as the vessel was made fast to the wharf. And they certainly were safe boats for a crowd of boys to be in, for the writer was on one occasion a member of a party of about a dozen boys on an excursion to Big Island in one of these big yawls when we tried to capsize it, and after working hard for over an hour and being unable to make it do more than dip a little water, we

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Annual Farmers' Week in Columbus at the O. S. U.

The fifth Annual Farmers' Week will be held in Columbus from January 29 to February 2 at the Ohio State University. During that week the institution throws its doors wide open to the agricultural interests of the state. Every possible effort is made to offer instruction, inspiration and educational entertainment for the farmers and their families. Sixty lectures and demonstrations on agriculture and home economics by the leading authorities of Ohio and of the United States are scheduled for the program.

If the ground is not too wet or frozen, continue to spread manure freely and turn it under. Fall plowing will assist in making the organic matter available. It will also bring to the surface multitudes of the larvae of harmful insects, and will cover up others normally nearer the surface so as to prevent their emergence next spring.

Mulch the strawberry bed after the ground freezes with three or four inches of coarse straw. This will protect the plants from alternate freezing and thawing. When partially raked aside in the early spring, the mulch will serve to retain the moisture and keep the fruit clean.

The tops of the asparagus bed should be cut, thrown into the fire and burned by this time. After the ground freezes apply a heavy coat of manure. Three or four inches will not be too much to apply.—L. M. Montgomery, Department of Horticulture, Ohio State University.

CONSTIPATION CAUSES BAD SKIN

A dull and pimply skin is due to a sluggish bowel movement. Correct this condition and clear your complexion with Dr. King's New Life Pills. This mild laxative taken at bedtime will assure you a full, free, non-gripping movement in the morning. Drive out the dull, listless feeling resulting from overloaded intestines and sluggish liver. Get a bottle to-day. At all Druggists, 25c.

Sloan's Liniment is first thought of mothers for bumps, bruises and sprains that are continually happening to children. It quickly penetrates and soothes without rubbing.
